

INDEX.

---

A.

- ACADEMY Royal, i. 23. List of students who have obtained the gold medal from the commencement of its establishment, ib. 315, 341.
Achilles, Colossal Statue of, i. 65.
Allen, Mr. his Lectures at the Royal Institution, i. 27.
Artist, a publication so called, ii. 362. Advantages of the same, and its proper objects, ib. 383-4.
Artists, importance of encouraging living ones, i. 16, 17. Eminent antient ones, alphabetically arranged and treated of in a series of five essays. See 'Essays'.
Arts and Sciences, their influence on the human mind, i. 3.
Causes that affected the progress of them among the ancients, Essay on, i. 33. Proposed Establishment for the Fine Arts, i. 140.
Askew, Dr. Anthony, Account of his Library, ii. 275. His Love of Books, ii. 285. His MSS. ib. 286.

B.

- Banks, the late Sculptor; some account of his life and works, i. 70, 71, 72.
Beau, the Modern, divided into ten classes, i. 225 to 239.
Beggar's Opera, bad tendency of, ii. 79.
Belle, the Modern, divided into eight classes, i. 289, 302.
BIBLIOGRAPHIANA. Account of Booksales, with Anecdotes of curious Books, and Collectors of them, i. 79, 114, 146, 176, 206, 247, 272, 303, 329, 364. ii. 44, 82, 115, 141, 170, 268, 305, 347.
Black Letter, ii. 83. Praise of, ii. 349-50.
Books, first editions, large paper, and illustrated copies, i. 116. 117, 118. Book-binding, i. 120. Printed on vellum, i. 120, 274. Praise of books in general, ii. 348-9. Sometimes chained, ii. 348. (Note.) Application to, ii. 351. Booksales by Messrs. Leigh & Sotheby, King & Lochee, and Stewart, ii. 355-6, 7.

R

INDEX.

- Brand, Rev. John, late Secretary of the Society of Antiquaries, Account of his books, ii. 85. Prices which some of them brought at the sale, ii. 270, 306.
Brydges, Mr. John, Account of the Sale of his Library, i. 178.
Biographical Notice of, i. 183.
Britain, State of the Arts in, i. 39.
Bryant, William, Account of the Sale of his Books, ii. 89.

C.

- Caxton, various editions of, ii. 314, 316. his 'Knight of the Toune,' ii. 358.
Cervantes, his Don Quixote alluded to, i. 5, 6.
Collins, Antony, Esq. the Freethinker, some account of his library, ii. 45.
Comedy, origin of the term, i. 351 (in note).
Crotch, Dr. his Lectures 'On Music,' delivered at the Royal Institution, i. 24, 60.
Crowe, Rev. Mr. Analyses of his Lectures 'On Poetry,' deliver-at the Royal Institution, i. 27, 283, 285, 311, to 314, 375,
377. ii. 25, 54, 93, 123.
Cumberland, Mr. R. Tendency of his Plays, i. 361.

D.

- Davy, Mr. Analyses of his Lectures 'On Vegetable Chemistry, and the Chemical Phenomena of Nature,' delivered at the Royal Institution, i. 23, 48, 87, 154, 185, 218, 255, 314, 379,
ii. 27, 55, 92, 150, 177.
De Bury, Richard, some Account of, i. 185.
Dibdin, Rev. Mr. Analyses of his Lectures 'On the History of English Literature,' delivered at the Royal Institution, i. 24, 57, 88, 126, 155, 157.
Director, The, Explanation of the Title, i. 7, 172. (note.)
Dormer, Sir Clement Cottrell, some Account of his Library, ii.
115.
Drama, Remarks on, i. 349. ii. 65, 225.
Dramatic Poetry, Analyses of Mr. Crowe's Lectures thereon,
i. 269, 285.

INDEX.

E.

ESSAYS CONTAINED IN THE DIRECTOR.

VOL. I.

1. Introductory, 3.
2. Causes of the Progress of Antient Art, 33.
3. Banks's Statue of Achilles, 65.
4. Connexion between Genius and Patronage, 97.
5. The same, 129.
6. Eminent Antient Artists, 161. On the Structure of our Theatres, 171.
7. The Life of Proctor, the Sculptor, 193.
8. Sketches of Modern Characters, 225. On the Structure of our Theatres, 240.
9. On the Art of Good Living, 257.
10. Further Sketches of Modern Characters, 289.
11. On the Gaelic Poems of Ireland, 321.
12. On the Drama, 349.

VOL. II.

- 13 On the Moral Effects of Music, 1.
- 14 Eminent Antient Artists, 33.
- 15 On the Drama, 65.
- 16 A Walk in London, 97.
- 17 Of Antient Works of Art, 129.
- 18 The same, 157.
- 19 Parallels between Art and Science, 193. Utility of Remains of Antiquity, 198. On neglected English Literature, 206.
- 20 On the Drama, 225. On neglected English Literature, 243.
- 21 Eminent Antient Artists, 257.
- 22 The Mirror of Truth, 289.
- 23 The Alarmist, 321. On the Structure of our Theatres, 329.
- 24 Discovery of the Authors of the foregoing Essays, by their different Styles, 367.

F.

Fashionable Friends, remarks on this play, ii. 75.

Fletewode, William, Esq. Sale of his Library, ii. 269.

Fly-flap, a Postscript, in reply to a pamphlet so called, i. 52. 92

Letter to the Director upon the same, i. 110. Author of the pamphlet described, ii. 380.

INDEX.

Folkes, Martin, Esq. President of the Royal and Antiquarian Societies, account of his Library, i. 329.

G.

GALLERY, BRITISH. Account of this Institution, and of the Pictures exhibited there, i. 29, 62, 91, 139, 158, 190, 221, 225, 287, 318, 342. ii. 28, 58, 124, 151, 178, 361. Advantages of, i. 204, 365. Premiums given for Original and Copied Pictures, i. 318, 366.

Gough, Mr. his Library noticed, ii. 148.

Graphic Muse, Powers and Objects of, i. 9. Her present unworthy Occupation, i. 13.

Greece, antient State of the Arts in, i. 36.

Guest, Mr. Douglas, Analyses of his Lectures, 'On the State of the Fine Arts in Spain, and other Parts of the Continent,' i. 186, 220, 308.

H.

Handel, Moral Effects of his Music. See the Essay on this subject, ii. 1.

Harley, Earl of Oxford. Account of his Library, &c. i. 206, 247, 272.

Henley, Mr. John, called Orator Henley, some account of his Library, ii. 86. His Character, ib. 88. &c.

Hoare, (Mr. P.) his Inquiry into the State of the Fine Arts, i. 8.

Hoblyn, Robert, Esq. some account of his Library, ii. 117.

I.

INSTITUTION, ROYAL, Analyses of Lectures delivered there. See the names of the Lecturers: Allen, Crotch, Crowe, Davy, Dibdin, Guest, Wood. Account of the Library. i. 47.

Institution, London, Arrangement of the Library, i. 26.

Institution, British. See British Gallery.

Italy, State of the Arts in, i. 37.

K.

Kuster, Anecdote of, ii. 352.

L.

Landsdowne Manuscripts. Importance of making them national property, ii. 173. Preface to the Catalogue of the MSS. published by Messrs. Leigh and Sotheby, extracted, ibid.

INDEX.

- Licensing of Theatres, Observations upon, ii. 241.
Literature, reflections on the advantages of, ii. 360.
London, A Walk in—giving some account of the streets, shops, fashionable furniture, &c. ii. 105.
Lovers' Vows, strictures on this play, ii. 69, 223.

M.

- Magliabechi, some account of, ii. 318, (note), 353.
Manson, Mr. a knowing bookseller in black letter, and prints,
ii. 316, (note.)
Mead, Dr. Account of his Library, i. 303, to 310.
Messiah, Beauties of Handel's Oratorio, so called, ii. 13.
Museum, British, i. 21.

N.

- Nelson, Mr. Robert, his praise of Harley, Earl of Oxford,
i. 280.

O.

- Opie, Remarks on his Paintings, ii. 362. His reputation, ib.
364
Osborne, Thomas, (the bookseller), i. 209, to 216.

P.

- Palace of Pleasure, by W. Painter; some account of a book so called, i. 81.
Paradise of Dainty Devises; some account of a book so called,
i. 31.
Proctor, Mr. Thomas, (the sculptor); some account of, i. 193.

Q.

- Quarles, Francis, Extracts from his 'Meditations, Soliloquies, and Prayers'—Account of this work, ii. 206—243.

R.

- Ratcliffe, John, Esq. Account of his Library, ii. 310. Comparison between Mr. West's and Mr. Ratcliffe's Collection, ii. 316.
Biographical notice of, 317.
Rawlinson, Dr. Richard, Account of his Library, i. 365.

S.

- Satyres: Bp. Hall's work of toothless and biting Satires, i. 83.

INDEX.

- Scarburgh (Sir Charles) Account of the Sale of his Books, i. 146, 176.
Schiller, his play of the Robbers, ii. 235.
Sebright, Sir John, Sale of the duplicates of his Books, i. 330, ii. 523.
Shakspeare, Character of his plays—in regard to their moral tendency, i. 361.
Smith, Joseph, Esq. Consul at Venice; some account of his Library, ii. 48.
Society, Royal, i. 18, 19, 46.
Society, Antiquarian, i. 20, 21.
Specimens of Art, importance of their being good ones, i. 11.
Stafford, Marquis of, Utility of the Exhibition of his collection of Paintings, i. 11.
Style of writing—modes of discovering the different authors of the Essays in the Director, thereby, ii. 371.
Stranger, Remarks on the play so called, ii. 236.
Students in painting, divided into three classes, i. 12.
Subjects for the pencil—various ones defined, i. 14, 15.

T.

- Theatres, On the Structure of the English, i. 171, 240.
Tillotson's, Abp. Account of the Sale of his Books, i. 151.
Tragedy, Origin of the term, i. 352 (in note).

V.

- Vellum, Sir Vicary, his Walk in London, ii. 97.

W.

- West, James, Esq. President of the Royal Society. Account of his Library, ii. 118, 141. Biographical notice of, ii. 170.
Williams, Dr. Some account of his Library, called 'the Dissenters' Library,' ii. 44 (note).
Wood, Mr. Analyses of his Lectures at the Royal Institution, 'On Perspective,' i. 187, 189, 219, 282, 311, 341, 378, ii. 26.

Z.

- Zouche, Sir Timothy, an Alarmist, ii. 322.

---

Printed by William Savage, Bedford Bury.

